

Manufactured Housing Products

Distributor Service List

Sales and Service Information

Revised October 3, 2003

Dear NORDYNE Customer:

Thank you for selecting a NORDYNE product. Our quality products are manufactured under the brand names of Intertherm and Miller. It is our desire to provide you with the industry's finest products and, should you ever require it, the finest service for these products.

Here are the steps you should follow if a situation develops that requires you to obtain in-warranty service for your furnace, air conditioner, heat pump, water heater, or fireplace.

If the appliance was included with the purchase of your home and if in-warranty service is needed, contact a NORDYNE distributor from this list. The distributor will provide you with names of qualified service companies who can assist you.

If you have a gas or oil furnace, check with your fuel supplier. They may offer warranty service or may suggest a servicer.

If the appliance was purchased as a replacement or addition to your home: First, contact the source from which you purchased your Intertherm or Miller unit. Explain what you need and supply the model number, serial number and/or appliance number of your unit. Provide as much detail as you can on the problem experienced with your unit.

If the company from which you purchased the unit is no longer able to assist you, then please contact a distributor from this list. Select the distributor located closest to you. This distributor will assist you in locating a local service company to provide you with in-warranty service during the stated warranty period, as shown in the warranty provided with the unit you purchased.

The distributor will have available NORDYNE PARTNERS CHOICE™ replacement parts to fulfill your in-warranty requirements as well as the ability to see that the service company is reimbursed for any in-warranty service work performed. The distributor will also provide your Certified Service Pro or other service company with technical assistance, product literature or instructions so that you may receive the best possible service for your furnace, air conditioner, heat pump, water heater, or fireplace.

The enclosed list is arranged alphabetically by state and then by city for your convenience. You'll also find the distributor's street address and telephone number listed.

If you are unable to get service help after following these instructions, write or call a NORDYNE Customer Service Representative at:
